

Accelerate Energy, Mining, and Marine travel programs with automated mass bookings and complex bulk crew trips.

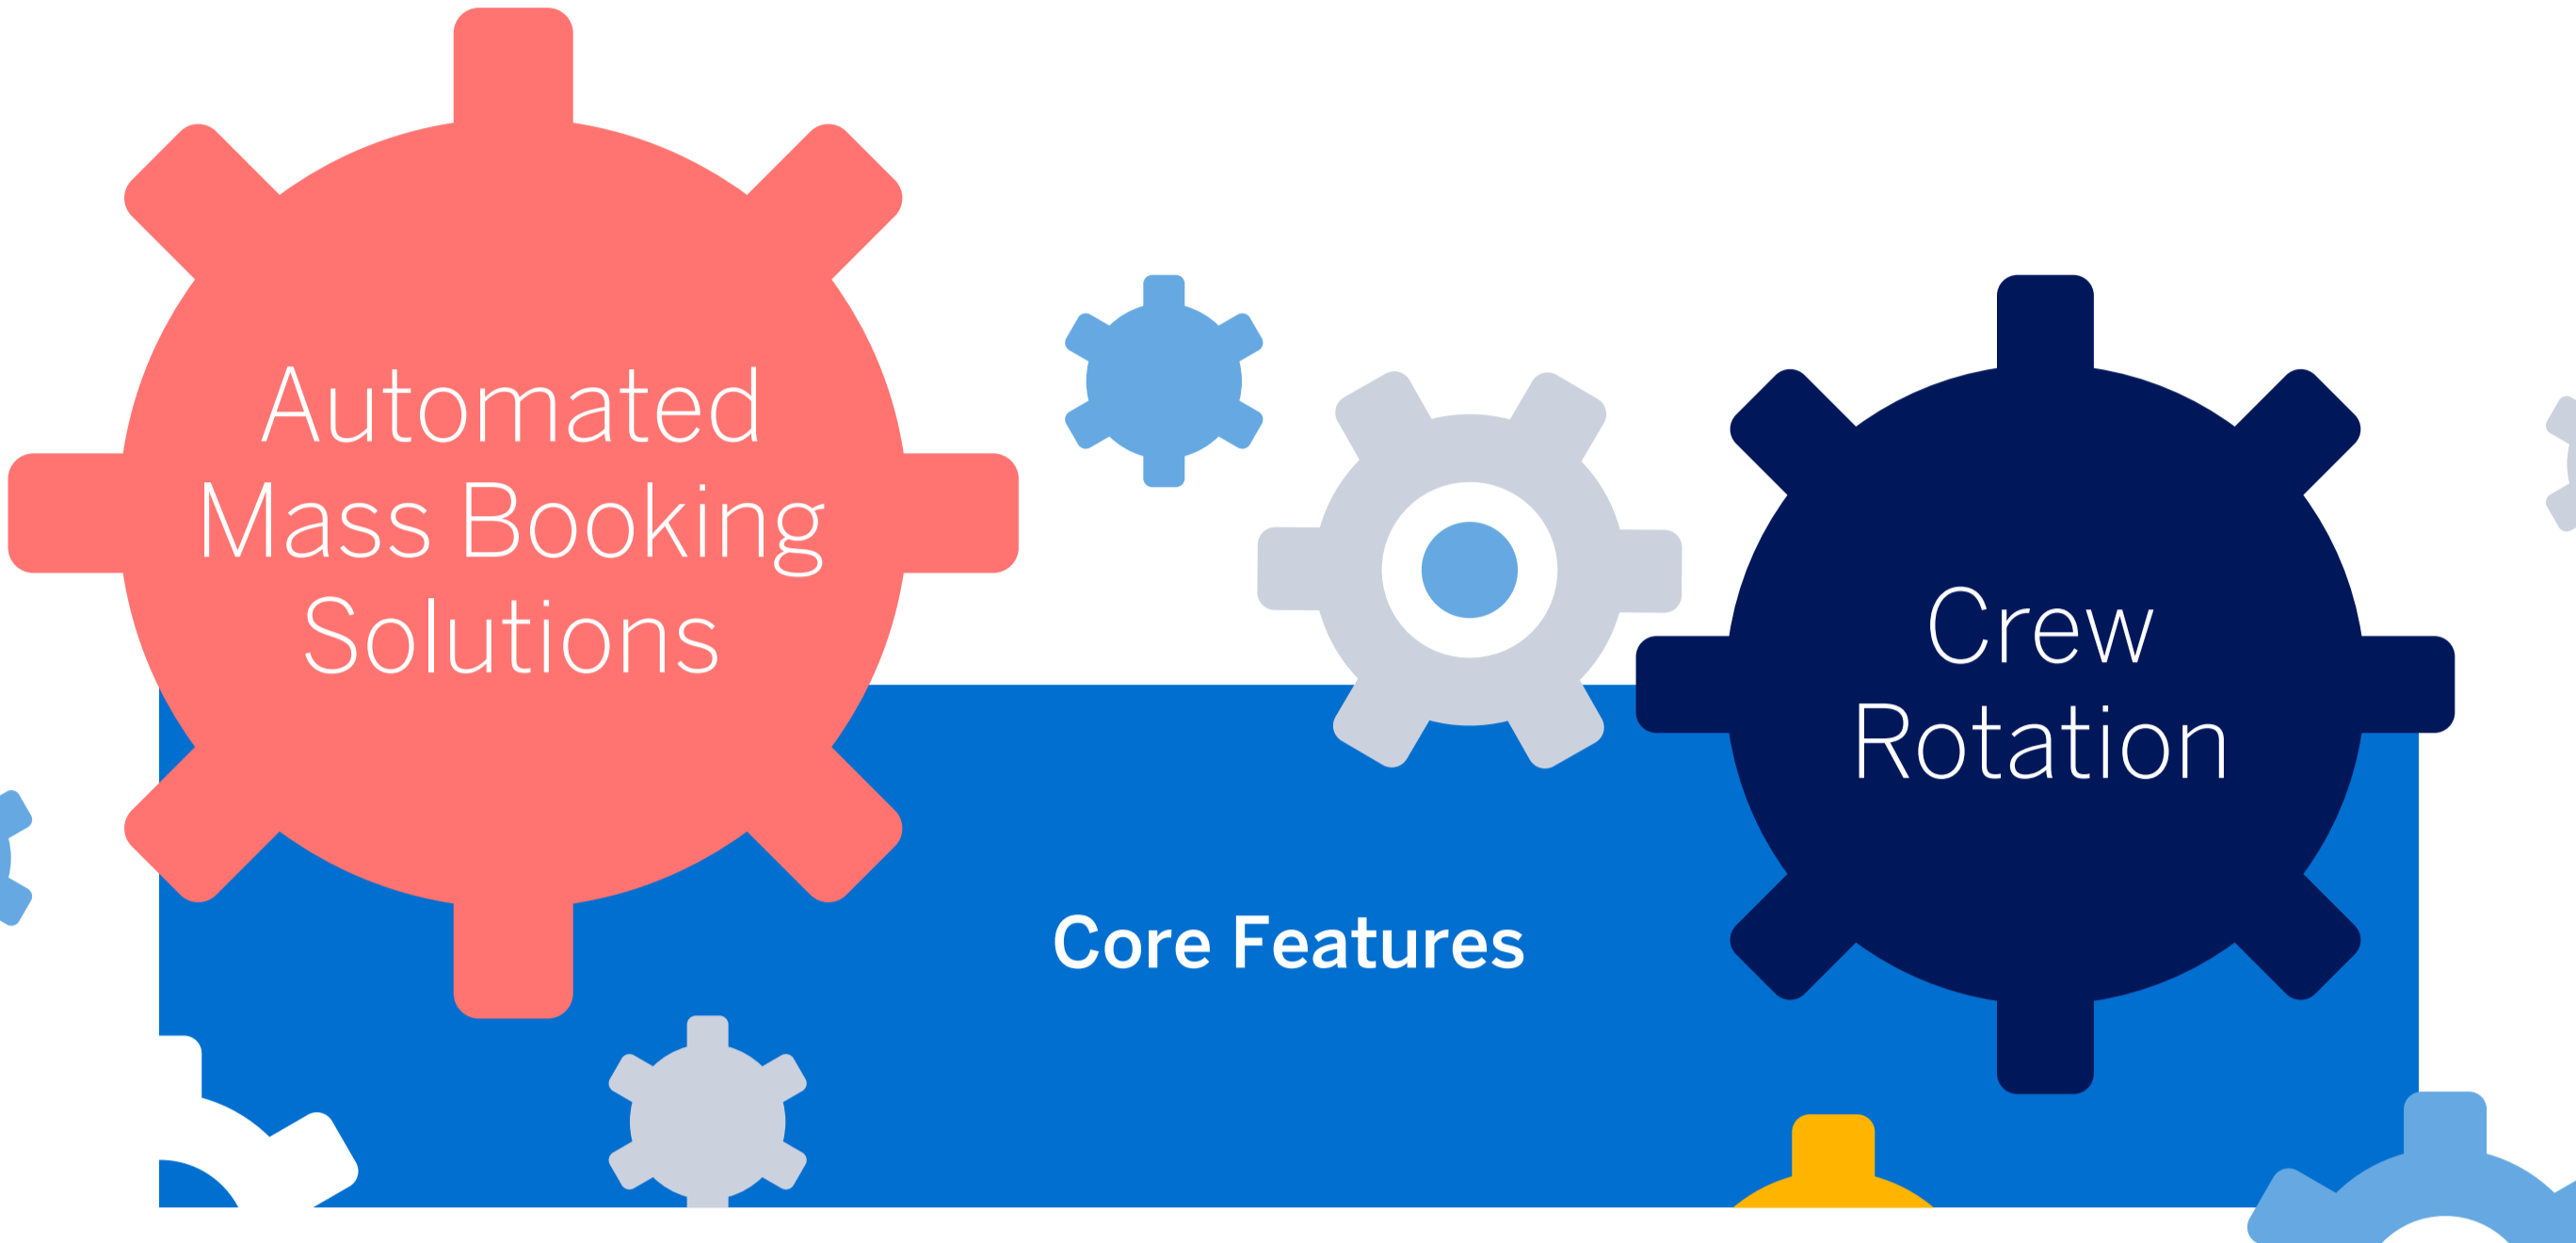

More efficient travel programs help businesses to go further.

When traveler wellbeing and operational costs are on the line, good travel management isn't good enough. American Express Global Business Travel's (Amex GBT) in-house and proprietary solutions built for Energy, Mining, and Marine industries take the complexity out of mass bookings and crew rotation, such as managing travel budgets, making mass bookings, and de-risking travelers' experiences. Discover how these highly automated solutions can be customized to help you gain more visibility, manageability, and savings so travel can better support business performance.

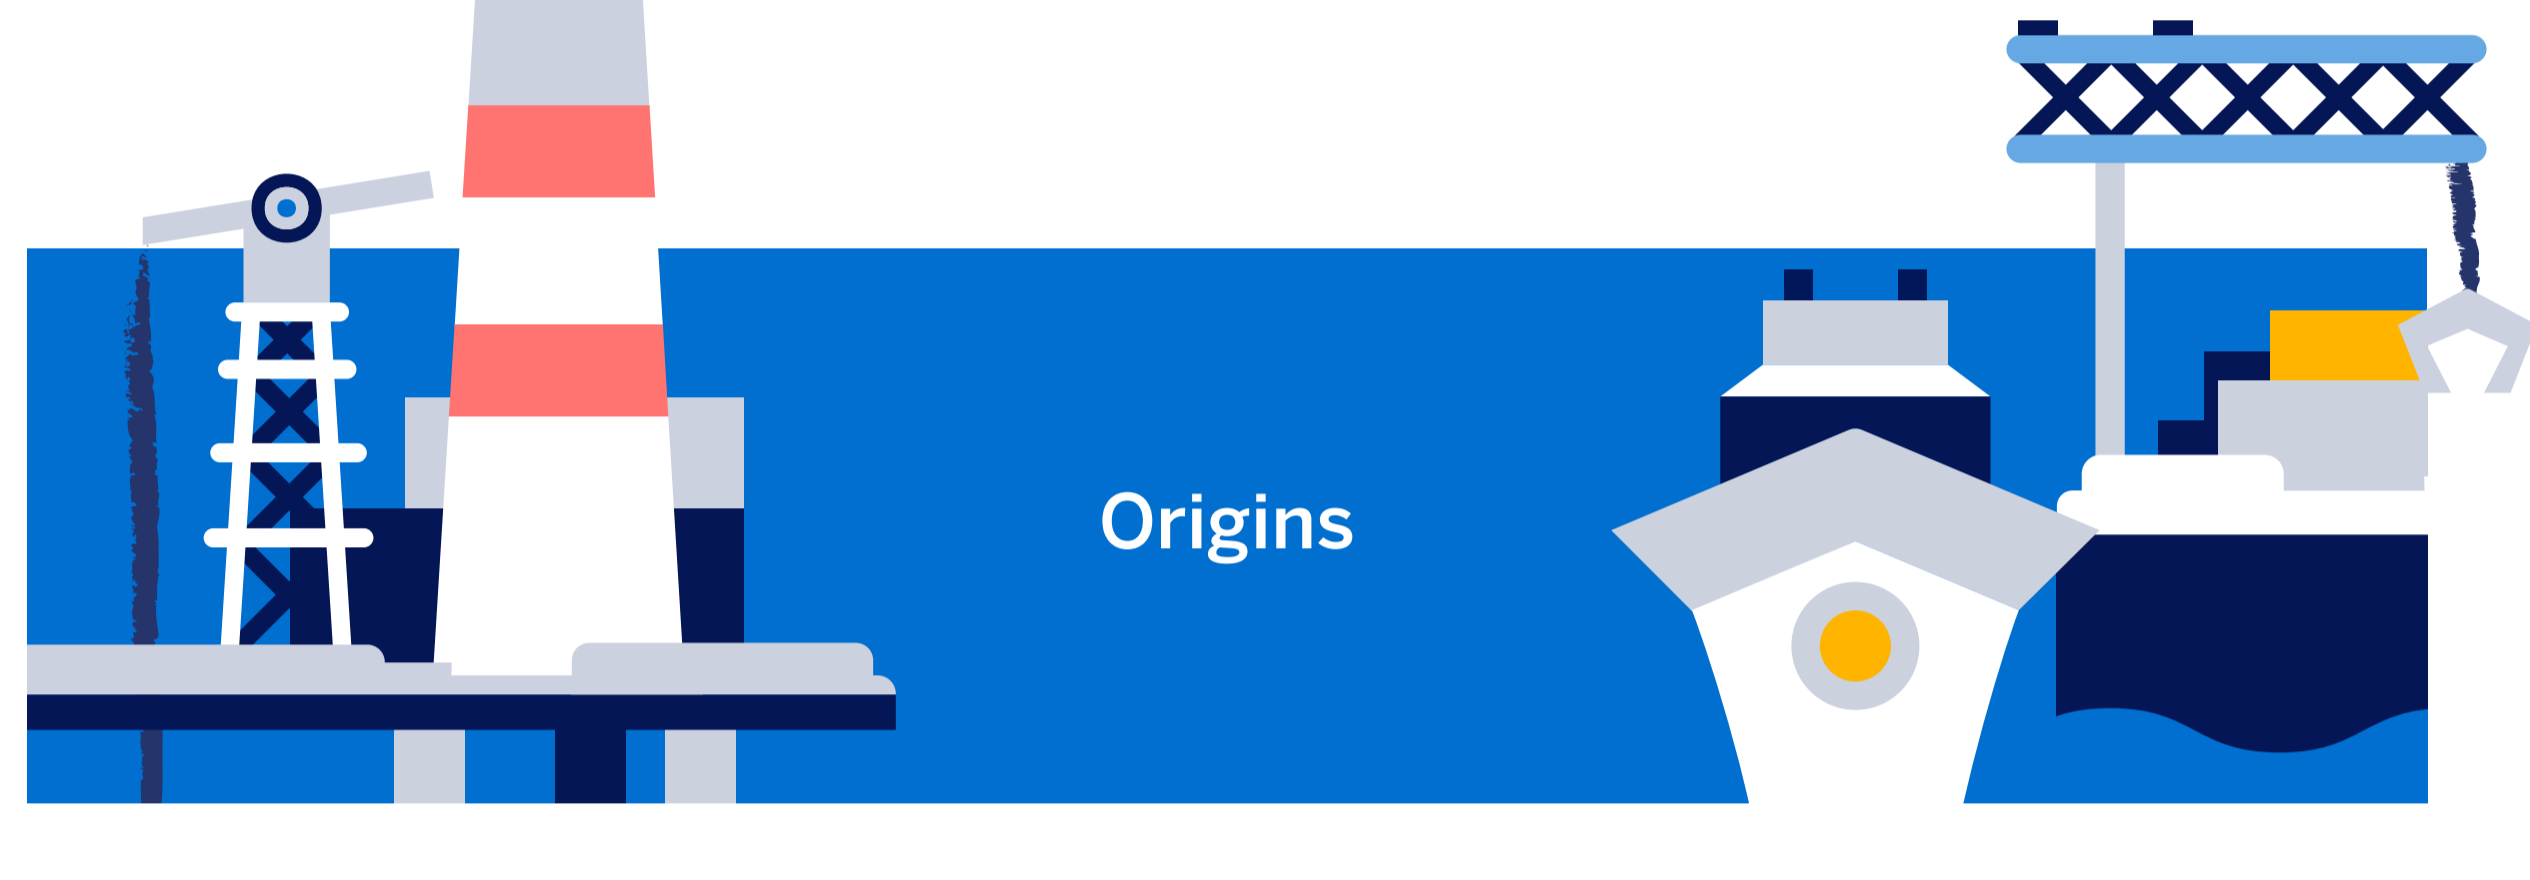

57%

of passenger name records are modified or created within three days of departure for Energy, Mining, and Marine travelers.

2.5 times higher than for a standard corporate travel booking¹.

Amex GBT's proprietary, in-house solutions integrate with your pre-existing workforce management and HR systems via APIs. Start optimizing travel programs with systems you're already familiar with to quickly increase productivity and ease the adoption of new travel capabilities. There's no need to rely on third parties to effect changes and customizations. Data flowing between your systems and Amex GBT's is secured and encrypted. All clients get 24/7 global support from Amex GBT's travel specialists.

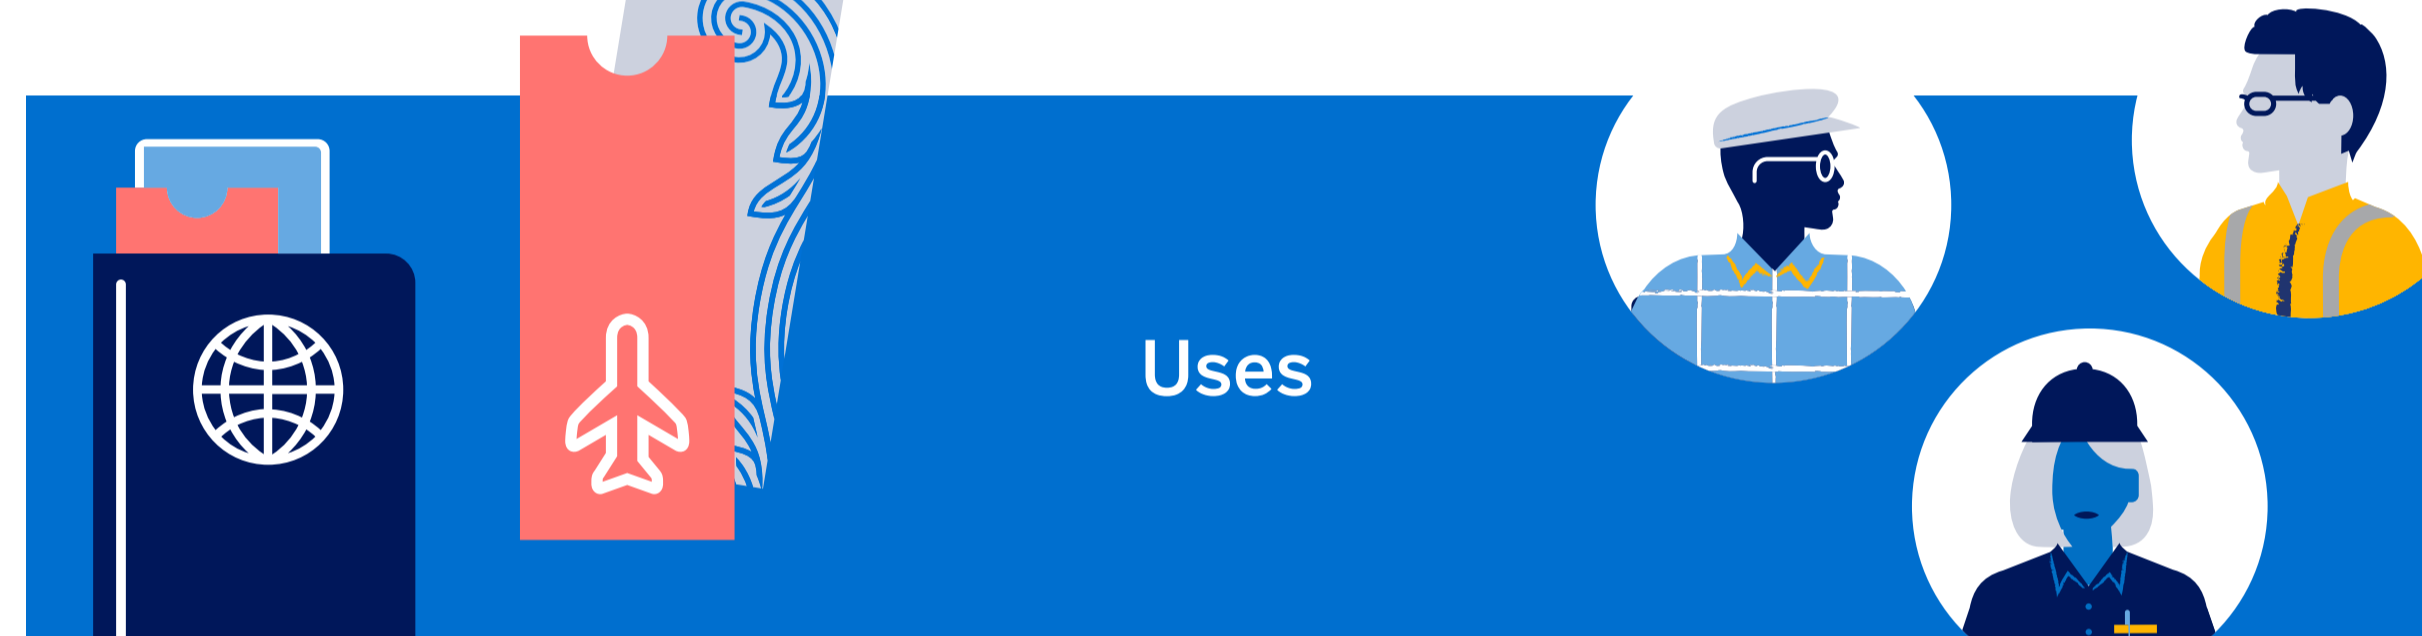

BUILT FOR THE MINING INDUSTRY.

Originally built to support Australia mining travel involving thousands of weekly trips. Today these solutions are also being deployed globally across a range of sectors, including large-scale group travel for meetings and events.

ORIGINATED FROM GLOBAL SHIPPING.

Initially built for a major Nordic shipping company, this proven solution routinely moves thousands of crews between Asia and Europe without hiccups.

AUTOMATES TRAVEL AT SCALE.

Automates large numbers of bookings simultaneously in a single, real-time transaction. It can reduce booking times from an average of five minutes to just five seconds².

MOVE PEOPLE IN BULK.

Built to bulk order crew changes involving complex travel patterns and shifting locations, like vessel operators, rig operators, fisheries, and more.

INCREASE BOOKING ACCURACY.

Recommender algorithms turn live data into information your travel managers can act on to make sure bookings are accurate.

ACCESS THE RIGHT TRAVELER INFORMATION.

Always give your travel managers the most up-to-date and relevant traveler information, including passport, visa, and frequent flyer details.

UPHOLD COMPLIANCE.

Help travel managers gain more confidence with their bookings when you can automate compliance with corporate policy whenever bookings are made.

REDUCE COMMUNICATION FREQUENCY.

Empowering travel managers with the right information always reduces the need for communications back-and-forth, thus minimizing the risk of human error.

MAKE MORE INFORMED TRAVEL DECISIONS.

Travel generates tremendous amounts of data that would otherwise go to waste. Automate reporting so stakeholders can use this information to make more informed, efficient, and sustainable travel decisions.

A POWERFUL DOCUMENT HANDLER.

Automate the distribution of letters of guarantee to the traveler or crew manager and send crew manifests directly to crew managers or captains in optimized formats.

BUILT FOR SCALE.

Real-life use cases include extracting 400 travelers during a floodwater emergency and effecting large-scale air and hotel travel for over 20,000 bookings².

WORK THE WAY YOU WANT.

Designed to enable simple crew change requests via Excel. Travel managers can more easily handle orders in one lightweight email for efficient satellite communication.

Help your travel managers work faster, do more with less, and realize savings over thousands of bookings. Reach out to learn more about Amex GBT's automated mass booking and crew rotation proprietary solutions.
